See Us About a Debt Swap

Consumers have spent the Great Recession paying down debts. Evidence shows that savings have risen as debt has fallen, and that's a good thing.

Still, many people continue to struggle with high debt levels. If you're in that situation, maybe it's time to look at your debts in a new way.

If you qualify, you'll make better progress retiring those old debts by swapping them for lower-rate credit union loans. For example, nationally, credit union credit card rates are more than two percentage points less than other cards. For new auto loans, the rate difference averages just shy of two percentage points.

Bring your high-interest debts to a GenFed loan officer. There's a very good chance you'll be able to reduce your interest rate, and that will make your payments go further and reduce your bills faster.

You can do better at your credit union. Swap out your high-interest rate loans for fair-rate credit union loans.

Know the Best Times to Shop and Save

Saving money on basics such as clothes, books, technology, food, and home supplies sounds appealing, right? By shopping during the right times, and at the right places, you'll find plenty of ways to snag some savings.

Computers and electronics

Buy: July and August, or after a new model is launched
Buy in the middle of the summer to hit back-to-school sales, or check markdowns around the holidays. Also, when new models debut, prices will drop on previous models.

Groceries

Buy: Sunday evenings
SmartMoney suggests hitting the aisles on Sundays to maximize savings. Stores generally run sales from Wednesday to Tuesday, but the latest manufacturer's coupons also are available Sunday. Another practical tip is to buy items in season that you can freeze for later use. Fresh strawberries or peaches you freeze are great in blended smoothies or pies.

Clothing

Buy: Thursday evenings, end of season
You'll find the best selection of goods on Thursday evenings-most weekend sale prices are effective, but a slew of shoppers haven't yet raided the stores.

Denise Winston, a financial lifestyle expert in Bakersfield, Calif., suggests: "Shop end of season, after holidays, clearance, and with a friend for 'buy more, save more' sales. And always watch for store coupons."

Furniture, linens, and bedding

Buy: January and July

You can spend quite a few pennies furnishing an apartment, but shopping at the right time can help slash the price tag. According to MSN Money, showrooms stock new furniture after the holidays and as fall rolls in. Bedding and linens are generally cheapest in January.

Winston also says that a great way to save on furniture and many other items is to simply ask the store clerk if any damaged, scratched or discontinued items are available. "I've saved up to 90% this way on items like leather sofas, washing machines, microwaves, dishes, and home décor," she says.

Vacuum cleaners

Buy: April and May

Besides showers and flowers, April and May also bring spring cleaning! Prices on older models start to wind down during these months, as new models arrive.

Bicycles and outdoor gear

Buy: January

Most sporting goods stores begin changing their seasonal gear in February and March. Before the store makeover, in January, owners generally discount much of their existing inventory.

You're more than a score

At GenFed, we use more than a credit score to decide when to grant a loan. GenFed doesn't participate in risk-based lending and, with our approval system, members can understand the criteria. GenFed takes time to find out what's behind the score. We look at more than the number. As an owner of GenFed, we owe you that much.

WE'RE HERE TO LISTEN

We know you're busy and it is pretty easy to lose track of your expenses. If you have made a mistake, let us know. We will try to be flexible and help remedy the situation. Don't forget you can use HomeBanking from your computer or mobile phone at www.genfed.com to keep track of your balance.

GenFed services are for our members only, not everyone else in the country. We know you. We work hard to help you handle your financial affairs. We care about you. And remember, because GenFed is a not-for-profit cooperative, people are worth more than money here.
