

How to Begin

We hope you are persuaded that GenFed membership is a benefit you want to extend to the employees or members of your organization.

Again, there is no cost and very little effort required on your part.

Send us a letter on your letterhead, and we will follow up, normally within a month, with an introductory program that will make this a meaningful benefit for your employees. We will work on a schedule that is convenient to you, and provide payroll stuffers and posters.

Your letter need only say you want to make GenFed service available to employees or your members, the approximate number involved, and the number of miles GenFed is located from your company.
