

FACTS

WHAT DOES GENFED DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security Number and Income
- Account Balances and Payment History
- Credit History and Credit Scores

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons GenFed chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Reasons we share your personal information	Does GenFed share?	Can you limit this sharing?
For our everyday business purposes such as to process your transactions, maintain your account(s), respond to court orders and legal investigations, or report to credit bureaus	Yes	No
For our marketing purposes to offer our products and services to you	Yes	No
For joint marketing with other financial companies	Yes	No
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes information about your transactions and experiences	No	We don't share
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes information about your creditworthiness	No	We don't share
For our affiliates to market to you	No	We don't share
For nonaffiliates to market to you	No	We don't share

Questions?

Call 800.860.5451 or go to www.genfed.com

Who are we?

Who is providing this notice? GenFed

What do we do?

How does GenFed protect my personal information? To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

How does GenFed collect my personal information? We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- open an account or deposit money
- pay your bills or apply for a loan
- give us your contact information

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing? Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates everyday business purposes - information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

Definitions

Affiliates Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

- None.

Nonaffiliates Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

- Nonaffiliates we share with can include insurance companies, service providers, and data processors.

Joint Marketing A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you.

- Our joint marketing partners include insurance companies

Other Important Information

If you terminate your membership with GenFed we will not share information we have collected about you except as permitted by law.

GenFed restricts access to nonpublic personal information about you to our employees who have a specific business purpose for using it. Our employees are trained on the importance of maintaining confidentiality and member privacy.